Stand up for King's Hedges

Daylight robbery! The King's Hedges area alone loses out on £3 million every year in estate improvements because the Labour government takes the money from tenants' rent to spend in London and other big cities.

This area needs a County Councillor who will stand up for local people – not a member and supporter of Gordon Brown's Labour Party.

King's Hedges is robbed of £3 million a year by Gordon Brown's policy of taking £1500 from the rent of every Cambridge council tenant to spend in London and other cities.

• It's the Lib Dem team here who are taking the campaign to Parliament to get this daylight robbery stopped.

The Labour government backs a £100 million 'Guided Bus' scheme, which won't even stop on Milton Road for local people to use it.

• It's the local Lib Dem team which is campaigning for the buses to be allowed to stop so that local people can actually use it and have a better bus service.

When the County Council refused to let new trees be planted on Milton Road, it was the local Lib Dem team which campaigned to save the avenue of trees.

Justice for the Gurkhas

Public and parliament defeat Gordon Brown

Nick Clegg campaigning with Joanna Lumley for justice for Gurkhas. Mr Brown expected them to die for Britain but didn't allow them to live here.

A fortnight ago, Joanna Lumley and Lib Dem Leader Nick Clegg won an important victory in the campaign for justice for the Gurkhas.

MPs, including Cambridge's David Howarth, said that the former soldiers, who are expected to put their lives at risk for this country, should have the right to live here too.

Now, Gordon Brown has been forced to change his mean-spirited and unfair policy. About time.

Labour has lost any sense of justice under Gordon Brown

The election here will be very close

Just 99 votes in it

The result in the last County Council election here

Labour won by just 99 votes last time

Only local Lib Dem Andy Pellew can beat the Labour candidate here for a strong local voice for our area

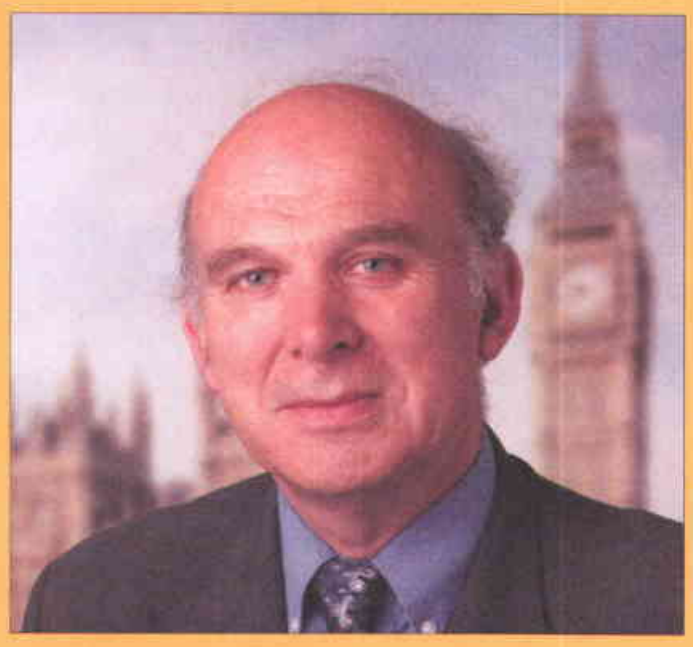
Only the Lib Dems have the right answers to the economic crisis...



Lib Dem Vince Cable correctly predicted the economic crisis and has been proved right.

Only Vince Cable and the Lib Dems have the right answers for how Britain should tackle the problems we face.

The Labour government chose to deregulate the banks and helped to get us into this mess. The Conservatives offer no solutions.

1 Invest to create jobs in a new green economy

Green technology would be a huge area of economic growth if only the government had the right approach.

High-tech Cambridge companies would create jobs and lead the country out of recession.

And the Lib Dems would invest in world-class rail-freight, enabling British companies to cut their costs and their carbon emissions.

2 Cutting taxes for low and average earners now

People need help from a Lib Dem tax cut now to pay their mortgages and be able to buy the products which keep the economy going.

3 Cut heating bills for pensioners

Rising gas and electricity bills are causing huge problems for people including many pensioners. The Lib Dems would insulate two million homes in Britain to cut carbon emissions and reduce heating bills.

4 Action to stop banks rushing to repossess homes

Families must be protected from banks rushing to repossess their homes.

David Howarth MP and Belinda Brooks-Gordon want urgent safety improvements for the A14, but not 10 lanes of traffic as the government proposes.

Instead the government should upgrade the East-West rail link to get lorries off the A14.

Cambridge companies would be well-placed to benefit from the new green economy – if it gets proper government backing.
